FULL-DAY SESSIONS // TUESDAY, JUNE 2 • 8:30 A.M. – 5 P.M. CT

NACE Assessments for Coaching Intensive II*
For basic, intermediate, and advanced-level career services professionals

The NACE Assessments for Coaching Intensive II workshop builds on fundamental skills gained from NACE Assessments for Coaching Intensive I. Using knowledge and the understanding of reliability and validity of assessments, coaches will examine client support systems for specific student populations, identifying strategies to leverage clients’ progression toward goal attainment.

*Note: Completion of NACE Assessments for Coaching Intensive I is a prerequisite for those completing the NACE 60-Hour Coaching Certification Program.

Presenter: Meg Flournoy, Sector Director, Duke University – The Fuqua School of Business

NACE Assessing the University Relations and Recruiting Function
For basic, intermediate, and advanced-level university relations and recruiting professionals

Can you articulate your university relations and recruiting (URR) program’s strengths and weaknesses? Could you successfully prioritize enhancement initiatives to most improve your URR team? Attend this workshop to diagnose the areas exerting the most positive and negative impact on your program’s ROI.

Presenters: Jose Preza, Recruiter, Talent Branding & University Recruitment, and Nicole Wormley, Global Director, Branding & University Recruitment, Danaher Corporation

This activity has been approved for 6.5 HR General recertification credit hours toward California, GPHR, HRBP, HRMP, PHR, and SPHR recertification through the HR Certification Institute.

MORNING SESSIONS // TUESDAY, JUNE 2 • 8 A.M. - NOON CT

Engaging Faculty
For intermediate and advanced-level career services professionals

During this session, you will gain insight into and learn strategies on how to respond to the trend of career centers moving into academic affairs. You will examine a framework for integrating faculty into the career development process to improve institutional outcomes, and learn from the work at Gonzaga University, which has adopted a Provosts’ model of governance, where student affairs reports directly to the senior academic officer.

Presenters: O. Ray Angle, Assistant Vice President for Career and Professional Development, Gonzaga University and Kevin R. Measor, PhD, Lecturer Department of Biology – Gonzaga University; Affiliate Instructor Department of Biological Structures – University of Washington School of Medicine; Pre-Health Advisor – Gonzaga University; and Director – Spokane Center for Public Neuroscience Education

NACE has been approved by NBCC as an Approved Continuing Education Provider, ACEP No. 5161. Programs that do not qualify for NBCC credit are clearly identified. NACE is solely responsible for all aspects of the programs.

Early-Bird Pricing: $375 (member); $425 (nonmember) – ends on March 2, 2020
Standard Pricing: $475 (member); $525 (nonmember) – begins on March 3, 2020
Advanced School Selection
For intermediate and advanced-level university relations and recruiting professionals

Would you like to develop a model to evaluate your current processes for school selection? Do you want to know more about the validity of the data collected? Would you like to know more about data collection methods? Attendees will take a deep dive into school selection criteria, data, and analysis to develop a greater understanding of the criteria needed to objectively evaluate, select, and rank schools using best practices and proven methods.

Presenter: Scott Flanary, University Recruiter, Facebook

This activity has been approved for 4.0 HR General recertification credit hours toward California, GPHR, HRBP, HRMP, PHR, and SPHR recertification through the HR Certification Institute.

Practical Approaches to Career Readiness
For basic, intermediate, and advanced-level career services professionals

Is your current career readiness approach agile? Are you looking for practical strategies to improve student outcomes? This session will provide a collection of practical strategies and examples of how a variety of institutions are integrating career competencies. Explore different models, practical strategies, and leading practices to integrate and scale career readiness. The session provides a foundation to strategically shift language, priorities, partnerships, and student success.

Presenters: Tim Harding, Associate Dean, Career Development and Engagement, University of Tampa and Alicia Smyth, Executive Director, Career Services, Embry-Riddle Aeronautical University – Daytona Beach Campus

NACE has been approved by NBCC as an Approved Continuing Education Provider, ACEP No. 5161. Programs that do not qualify for NBCC credit are clearly identified. NACE is solely responsible for all aspects of the programs.

New Professionals Bootcamp
For basic, intermediate, and advanced-level career services and university relations and recruiting professionals

Every career center and every recruiting function is unique to its own organization, but there are skills, knowledge, and competencies that span our professional practice. In this session, practitioners with less than five years in the profession will get an overview of those components and have the opportunity to reflect on their own personal career and goals. As our charges and the way we conduct our business change, young professionals are the key to our future and must be retained. To do so, they must have the perspective of what our profession is as a whole, determine where their best fit is, come to feel valued in it, and know how they can advance.

Presenters: Catherine Neiner, Director, University Career Services, Georgia State University and Stephanie Pallante, Early Careers Recruitment Leader, CIGNA Corporation

This activity has been approved for 4.0 HR General recertification credit hours toward California, GPHR, HRBP, HRMP, PHR, and SPHR recertification through the HR Certification Institute.

Exploring Work, Culture, and AI
For basic, intermediate, and advanced-level career services and university relations and recruiting professionals

Explore what work means to you, your students/recruits, and society at large, and why this matters as we plan for the future world of work. Four sessions arrayed as spiral progressions (personal, cultural, organizational, and application/synthesis/AI) with solo and group activities in each allow attendees to increase thoughtful engagement with assumptions around work, how to relate to it, and how this drives technologies like AI. Attendees will be equipped to be active agents in their organizations and broader conversations.

Presenters: Julianna McDonald, Assistant Director, and Chris Miciek, Director, Career Development Center, Thomas Jefferson University

This activity has been approved for 4.0 HR General recertification credit hours toward California, GPHR, HRBP, HRMP, PHR, and SPHR recertification through the HR Certification Institute.

Group Coaching: Future Ready
For basic, intermediate, and advanced-level career services and university relations and recruiting professionals

In the fast-paced world of work, focusing on your own professional development for the future often takes a backseat. Join like-minded individuals to develop an action plan to enhance your professional trajectory, examine barriers to the process, and recognize efficiencies in the development process through engagement in a group coaching session anchored in strategy, outcomes, and planning.

Presenters: Ann Garner, Manager of Industry Advising and Employer Development – Technology, George Mason University and Cher Yazvac, Director of Career Development, Purdue University Center for Career Opportunities

Preparing for Gen Z
For basic, intermediate, and advanced-level career services and university relations and recruiting professionals

What are the unique characteristics of Gen Z, and how will the next generation of talent impact the world of work? In this session, attendees will examine characteristics, values, and preferences of Generation Z to develop a strategic approach to programming efforts within your university relations and recruiting plan. Examine leading practices and factors to design exceptional internship, onboarding, and rotational programming to meet the needs of Gen Z.

Presenters: Rohan Punamia, Associate Product Manager, LinkedIn and Sahil Punamia, Founder, The Aspiring Professional

This activity has been approved for 4.0 HR General recertification credit hours toward California, GPHR, HRBP, HRMP, PHR, and SPHR recertification through the HR Certification Institute.

Making Career Readiness the Core of a Liberal Arts Undergraduate Curriculum
For basic, intermediate, and advanced-level career services professionals

At the University of Minnesota – Twin Cities, the Career Readiness Initiative in the College of Liberal Arts is making career readiness a core of the college’s mission. Conceptualizing readiness as the acquisition of Core Career Competencies has fundamentally changed undergraduate education at a liberal arts institution.

Conceived five years ago, it rests on the four pillars: Conceptualization and Planning, Coalition Building, Resources, and Assessment. Using this initiative as a case study, the presenters will share how they navigated leading institutional change. They will identify key stakeholders and moments crucial for success. Breakout sessions and exercises will allow participants to translate these lessons to actionable next steps for their initiatives.

Presenters: Judy Anderson, Director of Career Readiness, and Ascan Koerner, Associate Dean for Undergraduate Education, University of Minnesota (Twin Cities), College of Liberal Arts

NACE has been approved by NBCC as an Approved Continuing Education Provider, ACEP No. 5161. Programs that do not qualify for NBCC credit are clearly identified. NACE is solely responsible for all aspects of the programs.
