Who is NACE?

Established in 1956, the National Association of Colleges and Employers (NACE) is a professional association that connects more than 17,700 college career services professionals, university relations and recruiting professionals, and the business solution providers that serve this community.

We are the leading source of information on the employment of the college educated, forecasts hiring and trends in the job market; track starting salaries, recruiting and hiring practices, and student attitudes and outcomes; and identifies best practices and benchmarks.

We are the only national association that brings together professionals focused on early talent recruitment and higher education career outcomes.

NACE 2025 was an incredible experience that brought together passionate professionals in career development and recruiting.

My team and I shared meaningful discussions about the conference and the city of Philadelphia! The NACE Team did an amazing job ensuring that everyone feel welcome and included.

- Demetrius J.

NACE provided an excellent opportunity to connect with other institutions and professionals which has led to wonderful collaborative relationships as well as a strong network of resources.

- Tom U.

The conference itself was phenomenal, as always, with too many great session topics to choose from, refreshing and insightful keynote speakers, and a wonderful Expo Hall of vendors, food, and events. It was a great time connecting with old friends and colleagues and meeting new ones! I've already got several meetings set up over the coming weeks from connections I made at NACE.

If you're in Career Services or University Recruiting, I highly recommend making it to a NACE Conference!

- Jessica N.

Attending the NACE conference left me feeling recharged, refocused, and deeply hopeful about the future of work for our current college students. It was also a reminder that relationships still matter and that meaningful networking can happen both in planned moments and unexpected ones. This experience not only affirmed the work I do, but it also expanded my vision for what is possible when we center collaboration, innovation, and student success in everything we build.

- Uzoma O.

NACE is where the heart of the career services community beats and being part of it is invaluable. At Iris Booth, we found it deeply rewarding to connect with the people who inspire students, shape futures, and deliver impact daily. The conference allowed us to strengthen relationships with long-time partners, form new collaborations, and most importantly, support a community that's devoted to helping others succeed.

- Brandon G.

The annual NACE conference is the one time a year where I can meet with the major technology vendors providing support to career centers across the country. It makes it very easy to find out what new features have been launched and where we are seeing innovation. That alone makes the conference an indispensable part of my summer. When you add in opportunity to learn from peer institutions attending the conference becomes a no-brainer.

- Nathan H.

If you're looking for a conference where the content is amazing, you meet so many people in your field, and you have the opportunity to work with individuals in this amazing profession; NACE is for you.
