Series Agenda

DAY 1 – OCTOBER 13, 2022 | 1 PM - 2 PM

Kickoff/Keynote Event: Inclusive Workplace Culture and Benefits

NACE's Disability Signature Series will kick off with an insightful talk from our featured author/speaker Michele Sullivan. It's understood that inclusion has many layers. To accomplish true belonging and diversity, we must have a greater understanding of inclusion. Standing just 4 feet tall, Michele says height allows her to "see the big picture." Consideration of little people in the workplace is a dimension of inclusion, and only the tip of the iceberg we will uncover during NACE's Disability Signature Series in 2022.

DAY 2 – OCTOBER 20, 2022 | 1PM - 2 PM EDT

A Conversation With Experts/Practitioners

Leaders recognized for their success in supporting and connecting with people with disabilities with employment opportunities will provide a brief overview of their efforts. Then, they will answer questions from attendees about employment strategies, practices, and resources to support and engage people with disabilities. This session's presenters want attendees to leave equipped with tools to better recruit and serve people with disabilities.

Student Voices: Perspective from People We Work With

A panel of current college students will share their lived experiences preparing for and navigating the career space as individuals with disabilities. They will provide feedback on their college experience, preparation for the workplace, and wants and needs of employers and career services teams.
